Namaskar! Good After-noon!!

I am pleased to say that we have gathered over here to celebrate the 110th birth anniversary of the great President Kim Il Sung. Born in April 15, 1912 in a peasant family of Mangyongdae, a low hill village merely twenty minutes south-west drive from the center of the Pyongyang city, he rose to be regarded not only the Sun of the Korean nation, but also the Sun of the mankind. It has been because of his unique Juche enlightenment, his dedication to the people, the humanity and the Korean revolution and his unabated life-long struggle full of sacrifices.

President Kim Il Sung was a great innovative thinker, revolutionary leader, anti-imperialist fighter and a visionary proletarian socialist. He not only propounded the Juche idea, he implemented it to make anti-imperialist revolutions to drive out the Japanese colonialists and US imperialists successively from DPRK, make the democratic revolution complete and build successfully the Korean-type of socialism in the DPRK. Now the Juche idea has been developed into the integrated and invincible Kimilsungism and Kimjongilism.

I fondly remember the moment when I had got an opportunity to introduce myself to the great President, sit in a table close to his in a grand banquet arranged for the international delegates and listen him talking softly his valuable thoughts. After the banquet there was arranged a photo session of the international delegates with the President. It was in the first week of October 1991, in Pyongyang. I am very happy that Korean Comrades have managed to send a framed copy of the upgraded photo of that occasion to me. I have hung it in my drawing-room which inspires me to emulate the great President whenever I get gazed at the photo.

I always cherish his fond memory and today I am paying highest tributes to him in his 110th birth-anniversary. I wish his contributions to the Korean revolution, struggles of the oppressed peoples and the nations of the world will remain illuminating forever.

I want to make avail myself of the opportunity to wish long life with good health to His Excellency Marshal Kim Jong Un and the spectacular successes to him in leading the Korean revolution, defending the Juche socialism and defending peace in the Korean peninsula and as well as in the rest of the world.

Long Live Kimilsungism and Kimjongilism!!

Long Live Nepal-Korea friendship!

Thank you for your kind attention.
