

Founding Day of the Korean People's Army

Born in the struggle against Japanese Imperialism, the Revolutionary People's Army grew after its heroic foundation by the eternal President Comrade Kim Il Sung, the further development under Generalissimo Comrade Kim Jong Il and now under the wise leadership of our beloved Marshall Comrade Kim Jong Un to the strongest military force mankind has ever witnessed. But not only is the People's Army the strongest military force worldwide, rather it must be seen as the strongest revolutionary force known in human history.

How can it be explained that the Korean People's Army since its foundation in the year 1948 serves successfully as the spearhead of the anti-imperialist struggle, when confronted with the overwhelming force of the capitalist rouse nations worldwide? This can only be explained by the nature of the Korean forces, which distinguishes them from the military organisations of any other country. When in capitalist countries people get forced to join the military or only do so for getting paid and aren't aware that they are giving their lives for the mere interest of capitalist profit, the Korean People's Army cannot be separated from the Korean People itself. The key to understanding the unbreakable power of the Korean Armed Forces lies in the fact that these forces emerge from the collective will of the independent and self-conscious masses. Because of the implementation of Juche and Songun in all fields of politics, ideology, economy and culture, the Korean society has evolved to a wholehearted unity that is indistinguishable from the military and revolutionary forces that form its core and guarantee the preservation of its sovereignty.

As President Kim Il Sung once said: "The victory of our young Republic in the fight against the "strongest power" on the globe should be attributed to the fact that we enlisted all the people and relied on the unity of the army and the people, whereas the enemy imposed mostly pure military force." Whereas the people in capitalist countries get more and more alienated from their nation and each other, and therefore the state has to rely on pure material strength, the Socialist Korean Nation has successfully established the unity of the army and the people like no other country and therefore will never be defeated.
