70 Years of Great Victory

70 years elapsed since the great victory the Korean people won in the Fatherland Liberation War against US imperialists and its satellite states. Abusing the name of the UN, they threw on the Korean front a third of their army, a fifth of their air force, most of their Pacific fleet, part of their Mediterranean fleet, troops from 15 of their satellite countries, the south Korean puppet “army” and what was left of the Japanese imperial army. Convinced to find an indigenous army easy to defeat, the US let loose such absurd and ludicrous remarks such as “being back home for Christmas holidays” and “having breakfast in Kaesong, lunch in Pyongyang and dinner in Sinuiju”, only to suffer an ignominious defeat thanks to the newborn Korean People's Army with the help of the Chinese People's Volunteers. Thus, the brilliant leadership of General Kim Il Sung shattered to pieces the myth of US imperialism's “mightiness” and, on July 27th, 70 years ago, the Armstice Agreement was signed on American request. Thus they violated it by stocking nuclear weapons in south Korea as early as 1958, entrenching themselves in the southern part of the Korean peninsula, this cannot conceal the fact that this armistice was the first one they signed in their history, succeeded only, in its nature, by the official apology they were forced to sign in 1968 when their USS spy ship Pueblo was captured in the waters off Wonsan.

Recently, the comrade spokesperson of the Ministry of National Defense of the DPRK recalled the EC-121 incident of 1969, the OH-58A incident of 1994 and the forced retreat of the US RC-135 in March 2003 when admonishing the US about the real possibility of shooting down its spy aircrafts, should they intrude themselves again in the DPRK's airspace.

The courage, mettle and stamina showed by socialist Korea against the US' arrogance, hegemonism and prevarications show a practical example to those countries (included some superpowers) about how to deal with the Americans, without yielding to their baton or their appeasement tactics. Thus, Korean comrades are illuminating the path ahead for mankind to a multipolar world in which all countries will be independent and sovereign, free from imperialist interferences and aggressions.
